Assistance Programs for Accessing Climate Funding

With funding from the Climate Commitment Act, three new efforts are now available to help tribes identify state and federal funding opportunities for clean energy and climate and access federal funding. Scan the QR codes to be connected to resources and/or direct assistance for each program.

Federal Tax Assistance Program

FEDERAL CLEAN ENERGY TAX CREDIT ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

Under the Inflation Reduction Act, there was a significant expansion of clean energy tax incentives, including expanding eligibility to non-taxed entities. This program provides one-on-one support from clean energy tax attorneys, as well as free resources and direct outreach to tribes, community-based organizations, and local governments. Scan the QR code for an intake form to leverage this free technical and legal assistance, and Lawyers for Good Government (L4GG) will reach out directly.

Federal Grant Writing Assistance Program

FEDERAL GRANT WRITING ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

With an influx of Federal funding for clean energy projects, this program provides personalized grant writing services, including support for writing, budgeting, and review of Federal grants. This program is designed for tribes, community-based organizations, local government agencies, and others eligible to receive Federal funds to prepare and submit grant applications. Scan the QR code or email WAFederalGrants@hagertyconsulting.com to leverage these free resources today.

FundHubWA Web Portal

FUNDHUBWA WEB PORTAL

The FundHubWA Web Portal provides a searchable database of state and federal clean energy funding opportunities, links to applications and resources, and provides email updates around various funding opportunities. FundHubWA is a one-stop-shop for state and federal funding opportunities, with materials tailored to tribes, public agencies, nonprofits, and businesses. Scan the QR code, or visit FundHub.WA.gov, to explore these funding opportunities today.
